

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to air a partisan political film shortly before the election will, if it's allowed to take place, mark a new low in the downward spiral of media responsibility to the public trust. Please take action to restore some sort of standard regarding political bias masquerading as information on the public airways. Or stick with the old "equal time" rule--if they air this travesty, they have to air Fahrenheit 911 immediately afterwards.